

2026 ANZHS Annual Scientific Meeting - Abstract submission

You are invited to submit your recent work in the area of headache as an abstract. Scientific projects, clinical cases and other clinical projects are encouraged. Posters will be displayed on poster boards during the conference. Up to ten abstracts will be selected to be presented as oral presentations for consideration by the scientific committee for the James Lance Award (Best Clinical Case) or Peter Goadsby Award (Best Scientific Abstract). Sponsors may submit up to 5 abstracts to be displayed as posters and are not eligible for either award category. You must register for the conference in order for your work to be presented.

Abstract Categories:

Clinical Case: Interesting cases with key learning outcomes are encouraged. Case series can also be submitted in this category. Case details should be deidentified. Consent processes for case reporting should follow the authors institutional policy and this should be included in the abstract.

Research Report: This category includes original research, clinical projects, clinical audits, continuous improvement projects and literature reviews. Institutional ethics approval details should be included in the abstract.

Work in Progress: Research ideas in development are welcome to be submitted. Protocols, methods plans and interim analyses can also be submitted in this category. Abstracts should include the research question (in PICO format where applicable), hypothesis and study aim.
